DETAILED ACTION

Final Rejection

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Tulley (US 6,719,631) in view of Norman (US 5,702,305).

Claims 1, 8:

Tulley teaches:

A personal interface portable device for electronic card games, comprising a thin display screen (Figure 12)

a tactile detection faceplate superimposed on the thin display screen, (Column 7, Lines 38-42 – a touch screen) control circuits for acting on a game display using the thin display screen in response to the actions detected by the detection faceplate (Col. 7. Lines 25-67 disclose features of the player device including a processor & circuitry).

(Tulley teaches the invention substantially as claimed, but is silent regarding :) an interface with a central system having a display screen and capable of electronic games said control circuits and said interface being capable in cooperation with said central system of displaying a set of cards on said thin display screen, selecting a card among said displayed cards, and extracting a selected card from the set, causing said selected card to be displayed on the display screen of said central system or to be transferred to a set of cards displayed in an identical device of another user.

(In a related invention, Norman teaches an electronic game system with a centrally located game board containing images applicable to games being played. Images may change & be depicted on the central game board. See Norman, Figure 4 & Col. 6. Lines 27-42. Note that a central system is common to both Tulley & Norman. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of Applicant's invention to modify Tulley to have a central system with a display region as taught by Norman for the purpose of increasing player interaction. (See Norman Col. 2. Lines 4-9). This is further viewed as a substitution of known elements with predictable results - games of chance requiring player collaboration benefit with a central display.)

Claims 2-7:

Tulley discloses that the display screen and the faceplate have a concavity that turns towards the user (Tulley, Figure 12 – the screen turns in, at least to some extent.

Since the user holds the device, a handle is taught. The handle (the portable electronic device being held) has control circuitry. Buttons (242) are taught. The display in Figure 12 is slightly curved at the corners & substantially rectangular on its edges.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
